A brief review…

• The terms of peace in the Treaty of Versailles
• Keynes’ critique
• The Allies learnt their lesson…
• The IMF as one of the post-WWII institutions
II. IMF and World Bank

1. International Monetary Fund
   Conditionality…

   • …to safeguard the Fund’s financial resources.
   • …to ensure that the money is used “for the right purpose”.

1. International Monetary Fund

Types of conditionality

- Financial conditionality: interest rate and loan repayment schedule
- Macroeconomic conditionality: government budget deficit, interest rates, money supply…
- Structural conditionality: reform of domestic tax laws, privatizations, governance reforms…

IMF conditionality has created much controversy…

- Legitimacy?
- Effectiveness?
- Uniformity of treatment?

- IMF as a political scapegoat?
1. International Monetary Fund
Conditionality – mission creep?

“Conditions will normally consist of macroeconomic variables and structural measures that are within the Fund’s core areas of responsibility. Variables and measures that are outside the Fund’s core areas of responsibility may also be established as conditions but may require more detailed explanation of their critical importance.”

1. International Monetary Fund

Conditionality – recent developments

- Increased transparency of lending operations
- Concept of “country ownership”
- More comprehensive consultations with governments and civil society
- Focus on core mandate

2. World Bank

Why is development important today?

- Widening income disparities as a threat to “social stability within countries and (…) security on a global scale” (WEF, Outlook on the Global Agenda 2014)
- Oxfam report (2014)
  - Almost half of the world’s wealth is now owned by just one percent of the population.
  - The bottom half of the world’s population owns the same as the richest 85 people in the world.

Governance

- Board of Governors: One Governor and Alternate Governor per member
- Executive Board: 25 Executive Directors, organized in “constituencies” (voting power depends on represented share capital)
- President of the WB Group
2. World Bank
Lending/Financing

IBRD and IDA

- …would likely hire a nutrition specialist?
- …deal(s) with the poorest countries in the world?
- …offer(s) concessional financial assistance?
- …cannot borrow in capital markets?
- …is/are mandated to finance government deficits?
- …conduct(s) Financial Sector Assessments?
III. International Monetary Policy

1. Gold Standard (1879-1914)
   - Currency is convertible into a preset, fixed quantity of gold
   - Fixed exchange rates among participating countries
   - Advantage: Limits the power of governments to inflate prices through excessive issuance of paper currency
   - Disadvantage: Highly inflexible, as money supply is determined by the amount of gold production

- Replaced gold with the USD ("dollar standard")
- System of fixed but adjustable exchange rates anchored on a gold-convertible USD
- Adjustments of >10% required IMF approval and was contingent on a fundamental disequilibrium in a country’s balance of payments

3. Transition to Floating Exchange Rates

- Dollar crisis
  - Vietnam crisis
  - Household deficit
  - Role of the US as world leader?
3. Transition to Floating Exchange Rates

• Dollar’s fixed value against gold became increasingly overvalued

• August 1971: Nixon “temporarily” suspends USD-gold convertibility

• Attempts to revive the Bretton Woods system failed

“The IMF allows each member country to choose its own method of determining the exchange value of its money. The only requirements are that the member no longer base the value of its currency on gold (which has proved to be too inflexible) and inform other members about precisely how it is determining the currency’s value.”

4. Overview of Exchange-Rate Regimes

• Floating exchange rate
• Peg to another currency (or basket)
• Adoption of another country’s currency
• Participation in a currency bloc
• Participation in a monetary union

IV. Responding to the Financial and Economic Crisis
1. Pre-crisis Developments

Is the IMF still needed?

- Large accumulation of foreign exchange reserves in emerging markets
- Reorientation towards regional arrangements (EU, ASEAN, Mercosur)
- Massive drop in the Fund’s lending activities

3. Governance Reform

G-20 Summit Washington, 15 November 2008

The G-20 Agenda

- Sufficient resources for IMF and World Bank to overcome the crisis
- IMF and World Bank to adapt their lending facilities in the light of the crisis
- Help emerging and developing economies regain access to finance
- Increased focus of surveillance on the financial sector
3. Governance Reform

The G-20 Agenda – Additional Resources

- Increase IMF resources by USD 250 bn through immediate contributions from some members
- Use additional resources from sales of IMF gold to provide USD 6 bn in additional financing for poor countries
- General SDRs allocation equivalent to USD 250 bn to boost global liquidity
- Special SDRs allocation to make the allocation of SDRs more equitable

3. Governance Reform

The G-20 Agenda – Quota Review

“We are committed to advancing the reform of the Bretton Woods Institutions so that they can more adequately reflect changing economic weights in the world economy in order to increase their legitimacy and effectiveness. In this respect, emerging and developing economies, including the poorest countries, should have greater voice and representation.”

Declaration, Summit on Financial Markets and the World Economy, 15 November 2008
3. Governance Reform

14th General Review of Quotas

- Doubling of quotas from approx. SDR 238.5 bn to SDR 477 bn
- Shift of more than 6% of quota shares from over-represented to under-represented member countries
- China will become 3rd largest member in the IMF
- BRIC countries among the 10 largest shareholders in the Fund
- Preservation of the voice of low-income countries
- 15th General Review postponed in January 2014
